

Analysis

January 24, 2018

The analysis of the vehicle fleet replacement plan shows that the standard deviation is smaller in the proposed fleet compared to the current fleet, by comparing miles per gallon (MPG). This implies that the proposed fleet contain less variance in its data than the current fleet. But since the upper and lower bounds are overlapping, it is not obvious which solution is the best one.